

Be Kind to a Neighbor.

Be kind to your neighbor and send him your paper to read if he does not take one, and do not humiliate him by compelling him to ask for it, but lay it out where he can find it when it comes in the morning after publication day. Do not be so uncharitable as to hide it because he is as able to pay for it as you are. He undoubtedly has private reasons for not taking it. Perhaps he has conscientious scruples about paying two or three cents for a paper when he can get the reading of it for nothing. Perhaps he is mad at the editor for saying too much or too little about him, or for refusing to credit him five or ten years, in which case the paper does not amount to anything and he will not have the dirty thing in his house. But he wants to read it all the more to see "what the fool has to say." He has a right to think it good enough to read and criticize, but not good enough to take and pay for. So humor this fellow and give him your paper to read. You may get your back up at the editor sometime and want the compliment returned.—Ex.

A Friend in Need.

We, of the poverty stricken majority, get tired sometimes of being told that we are far better off than the sons of the rich, but once in a while we hear or see something that makes us realize that there are a few inconveniences attendant upon being born to the purple.

Little Claus Spreckles, the grandson of Big Claus Spreckles and the son of John D., goes to the public school as befits a young American. But, sad to relate, he doesn't exactly cover the name of Spreckles with the glory of his scholarship. In fact, his record was getting so very black not long ago that his teacher felt it her duty to do something about it, so she kept Claus after school one day for some very serious conversation. The deep seriousness of it all appealed to Claus, but he didn't seem to see any way of mending matters. "Couldn't you get some one at home to help you?" asked the teacher.

Claus looked very doubtful for a moment. Then an idea occurred to him his face cleared. "I might ask the butler," he said.—San Francisco News Letter.

A minister one Sunday evening was preaching for a very sleepy congregation; to waken them he said: "Brethren, wake up! You cannot really know that your minister is preaching to you this evening with only half a shirt to his back!" And they woke up. In the following week he had several parcels sent to him containing new shirts, the writers hoping that he would excuse the liberty they were taking in sending them to him. Several ladies, more anxious than the others, waited to see the minister to express their sorrow at his being so poor. He smiled and said: "Dear friends, don't you know that the other half was at the front?" The ladies smiled, blushed, and turned away.—Ex.

Lots of 'Em.

Every editor has received them. The postmaster sends them to the editor. The postmaster is not to blame. For instance, there was a man by the name of—well, say Tom Short, who sent us three notices to stop his paper—he did not want it any longer. We wondered what was the matter. Upon investigating the subscription book we found Tom Short $10. He never had paid a cent, and yet he stopped his paper as a matter of economy to us. He didn't want us to lose any more by him. A few days afterward Short was at church and his melodious tenor rang out clear in that old, soul stirring song, "Jesus Paid It All." He might have been mistaken but his earnestness impressed us, so the next day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing he had made an assignment of his liabilities to the Lord. Unidentified Exchange.

The above is true to life. We have them here in Cape county. Men who owe us $3 or $4 on subscription send us cards through the postmaster, refusing the paper—don't want it any longer.

Many physicians are now prescribing Kodol Dyspepsia Cure regularly having found that it is the best prescription they can write, because it is the one preparation which contains the elements necessary to digest not only some kinds of food, but all kinds and it therefore cures dyspepsia and indigestion no matter what its cause. Put Yourself in His Place.

How would you like to be your own horse? Would you work yourself six or seven hours without water when the temperature is in the nineties? Would you let the head of a rivet stand twisted in the harness till it tore the skin off? Would you put a bridle on yourself that had a loose blinder which flapped you in the eye every time you made a step? Would you tie yourself up with a lazy or slower horse which made you pull more than half the load? Would you give yourself water out of a slimy box, or a mudhole in the creek where the pigs and poultry bathe? Would you feed yourself dry corn seven days in the week, and hay that smelted of rats, in a manger on which the hens roost? Would you stand yourself, at feeding time, ankle-deep in your own excrement, to fight a million flies bred in your own filth?

What would you do if you were your own horse?—Nebraska Farmer.

"NERVE WASTE."

One of the most helpful books on nerve weakness ever issued is that entitled "Nerve Waste," by Dr. Sawyer, of San Francisco, now in its fifth thousand. This work of an experienced and reputable physician is in agreeable contrast to the vast sum of false teaching which prevails on this interesting subject. It abounds in carefully considered and practical advice, and has the two great merits of wisdom and sincerity.

It is endorsed by both the religious and secular press. The Chicago Advance says: "A perusal of the book and the application of its principles will put health, hope and heart into thousands of lives that are now suffering through nerve impairment." The book is $1, by mail, postpaid. One of the most interesting chapters—chapter xx, on nerves and nerve tonics—has been printed separately as a sample chapter, and will be sent to any address for stamp by the publishers, The Pacific Pub. Co., Box 2655, San Francisco.
